

A photograph of a modern building facade at dusk. The building features large windows with a grid pattern, some of which are illuminated from within, casting a warm glow. The facade is composed of blue panels. A large, solid blue rectangular volume is attached to the side of the building. In the foreground, there is a paved area and some small plants. To the right, a dark, leafy tree is visible against the sky. The sky is a clear, pale blue.

OPERATIVES

09 > 21

*The variety of projects presented for each company, has centered our attention in finding solutions to adapt to the particularities of these challenges.
LAY is presented as a dynamic solution in the workplace, which makes it possible to adapt to those needs and particularities.*

LAY

Designed by:
Aitor García de Vicuña

*Alone or accompanied, as a team or as an individual, together but not scrambled.
Shared work spaces without losing sight of the importance of the individual.
Dynamic workstations*

*Take advantage of the space without losing elegance.
Privacy is achieved by the use of acoustical materials, which create individual workplaces with active teamwork components.*

PRIVATE

23 > 25

The responsibility of the people who run the companies, the decisions to be taken every day, needs a pleasant and elegant environment that lives up to such important actions.

LAY

Aitor García de Vicuña

Elegant and functional offices.
Cozy environments that promote executive decisions.

M

MEETING

27 > 29

To listen to the client, to the team or to the leading board, brings together people who contribute ideas to the project, turns a simple meeting into a place where ideas and agreements are turned into results of development and improvement.

COLLABORATIVE

31 > 33

Knowing how to disconnect from one's own actions, with the intention of finding new points of view, requires different and neutral spaces to foster collaboration.

LAY

Feeling at home, in a cozy and comfortable environment, helps to generate more creative atmospheres.

The needs and particularities of the workplace, has been the target of LAY's creation. Turning it into a game in which one sets its own rules, for a better development of projects.

STORAGE

34 > 35

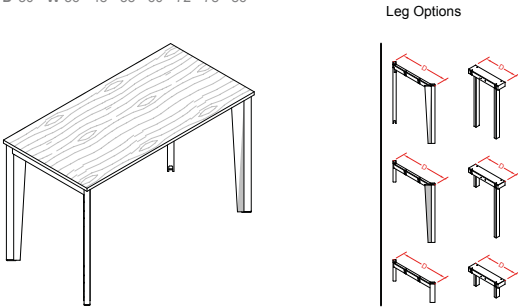

RECEPTION

36 > 37

The first impression is difficult to change. LAY presents its receptions as elegant, functional elements, with a very personal character that gives clear guidelines of what to expect from the company.
